

THE ASIAN CULTURE CENTER PRESENTS:

ASIANFEST

The City of Bloomington's Community and Family Resources Department and Parks and Recreation Department together with the Indiana University Asian Cultural Center are organizing AsianFest. The festival is part of the community effort to celebrate Asian Pacific American Heritage Month. AsianFest will provide an opportunity for community residents to learn more about Asian cultures and local organizations involved with Asian culture and heritage as well as offer a venue for community organizations and service providers to reach the Asian population of Bloomington. By celebrating Asian cultures through food, the arts, musical performances, and dance, we will also increase cultural awareness in our community.

Asian Fest will be held on Saturday, May 22, 2004 from 8:30-12:00 in the Showers Common and City Hall Atrium in conjunction with the Bloomington Community Farmers Market. The event will feature the annual Asian Cooking Demonstration in addition to musical and dance performances by local and Indianapolis based Asian artists. There will also be demonstration tables exhibiting various items of Asian cultures and informational displays on the various city and community services which are available in the community and may be of interest to those of Asian heritage. The event will be free and open to the public
